

END OF AN ERA

Krinsky's junkyard ceases to exist

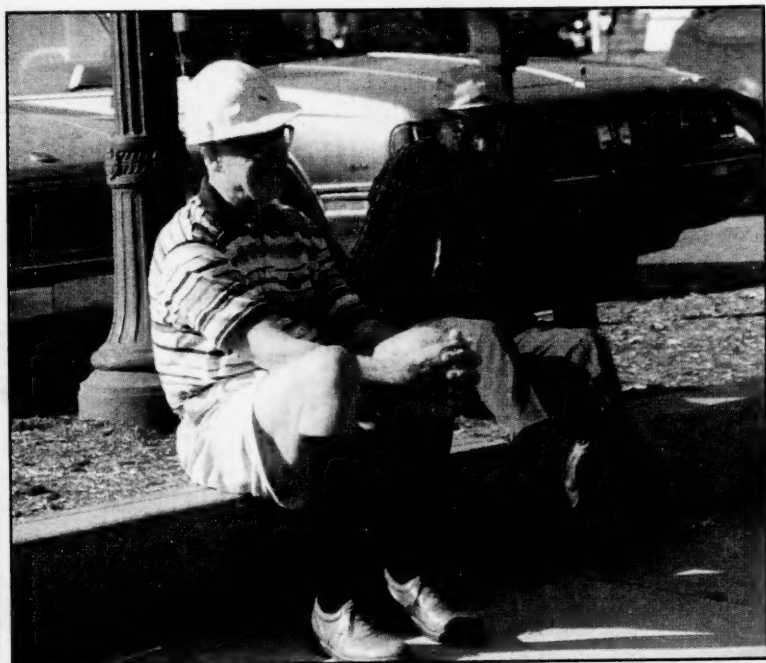

By Perry Colmore and Don Staruk

The H. Krinsky and Son barns and garage on Park Street came down Tuesday, signaling the end of an era in downtown Andover.

A small audience began to gather at the site about 7 a.m. Tuesday when employees of Kidder Building and Wrecking Inc. of Plaistow, N.H., arrived to begin unloading the track backhoe that carefully dismantled more than 100 years of local history.

Morris Krinsky died in February at the age of 79. His father, Hyman Krinsky, first opened the junkyard on the site in 1926. Prior to that the property had been the home of the Tuttle and Morrison Wagon and Carriage Shop. Andover Historical Society records indicate three buildings on the site, though situated in a different manner than the three razed this week, at the turn of the century.

Ken Barnhill of Wolcott Avenue, at left, came prepared to watch in his hardhat. That's John McClellan sitting beside him. His younger brother, George, went to school with Mo Krinsky and when Mo Krinsky first came to town, George McClellan showed him around, according to John McClellan.

A track backhoe takes another bite out of the barn at the late Mo Krinsky's junkyard on Park Street. The building razing began Tuesday at 7 a.m., so not that many people showed up for the last act of the junkyard. Some people on site wondered aloud where photography students would now practice.

Something is coming Sept. 15...

Florence Feldman-Wood of 44 Rocky Hill Road holds the book, Finding Your Perfect Work, in which she's included. In back of her is a rare spinning wheel made in turkey. It's unusual because it has two wheels and no foot pedal.

She followed her passion in creating her business

Florence Feldman-Wood of Andover and her homebased business, The Spinning Wheel Sleuth, are featured in Finding Your Perfect Work, the latest book by Paul and Sarah Edwards. Considered by many the gurus of self-employment, the Edwards have subtitled this book The New Career Guide to Making a Living, Creating a Life. It is designed as a guide-book for people looking for life-fulfilling work in the '90s.

Ms. Feldman-Wood is listed in the chapter on people who created businesses by "following a passion," people who have taken what they love to do, and established a business that allows them to do it.

Florence Feldman-Wood was featured in the fall 1995 Spin Off magazine. The hat in this photo is also in the story.

Wood.

As a handspinner she was fascinated by old spinning wheels.

Some time after that the Edwards contacted her, inviting her to contribute information about her business to be included in this book.

Her quarterly newsletter is the only publication to study all aspects of spinning wheels. Articles cover different styles of wheels, from different countries and different historic periods. Biographies of wheel-makers are also presented. It includes not only technical information but also the social history of these tools.

"This research is like a treasure hunt. I am trying to encourage people to unearth and share information about old spinning wheels before all the wheels and the material about them are lost," said Ms. Feldman-Wood.

To learn more about The Spinning Wheel Sleuth, contact Florence Feldman-Wood at P.O. Box 422, Andover, MA 01810.

- No local bus service.
- No Weebus service in Andover, Methuen or North Andover.

Profiles of those running for state rep

Last week, the Townsmen ran a profile of state representative candidate James Fox. A Republican, Mr. Fox is running unopposed in the Sept. 17 primary.

Democrats running for the state-rep seat are Andover Selectman Barry Finegold and Andover resident Denise Parsons. The winner of the Democratic primary will face Mr. Fox in the November election.

The Townsmen will publish profiles of Mr. Finegold and Ms. Parsons before the primary.

Here's a TIP you don't want to miss

The Trauma Intervention Program of the Merrimack Valley is recruiting people for a training session that starts next week, Thursday, Sept. 5.

The 55 hours of training will be spread over four evenings and two consecutive full weekends.

Anyone interested in becoming a TIP volunteer counselor should call Jayan Conlin at 474-8923, or write to TIP, Box 5081, Andover.

TIP is a group of specially trained citizen volunteers who provide emotional and practical support to victims of traumatic events and their families in the first few hours following a tragedy, when the persons involved often feel helpless, confused and in emotional shock. They are confronted with a situation for which they are totally unprepared, say TIP officials. Often there is no one available in the immediate aftermath of a tragedy to guide the victims through these difficult hours. TIP volunteers are called by authorized police officers, firefighters and paramedics to assist.

Two teens charged in school vandalism

By Don Staruk

Two Andover teen-agers were arrested early Wednesday morning, Aug. 28, and charged with spray painting graffiti on outside windows, walls and doors at Sanborn School.

The two boys, 14 and 15 years old, were charged with vandalism under the new graffiti law, according to Lt. Kevin Lynch.

The new law allows the courts to delay a teen from getting his or her driver's license for up to a year after the teen would otherwise be eligible to drive, according to the lieutenant.

According to police reports, Officer Anthony Vallante was on what has become a routine patrol of the schools when he spotted a youth on a bicycle behind Sanborn School. The youth fled into the woods on his bicycle when he spotted the cruiser. Officer Vallante saw blue and gold paint on the walls and windows of the school and a second bicycle laying on the ground. He called for backup, then chased the fleeing teen into the woods on foot.

Officers James Moses, Henry Picard, Lee Britton and Tim Hagerty joined the search in the woods and Officer Moses found the 14-year-old lying in some shrubbery with his bicycle next to him. The boy had fresh paint on his hands, tying him to the crime, Lt. Lynch said. The boy was handcuffed, taken to the police station and placed under arrest and his parents were called.

Police found more wet paint, so wet it was still dripping in places, on the east side of the school building. Words including "Pigs suck" and other phrases were written on the doors and walls of the building. Two cans of spray paint were found at the scene.

After further investigation a second subject, the 15-year-old, was brought to the police station by his parents and he will face the same charge of vandalism.

"It was quite extensive as far as the paint damage goes," Lt. Lynch said of the amount of damage to the school.

The Municipal Maintenance Department was working on an estimate for the cost of the cleanup Wednesday.

Planners working on growth, elder housing articles

By Don Staruk

With a Special Town Meeting just eight weeks away, planners Tuesday night continued to work on three or four warrant articles related to residential growth, and another proposal that would allow assisted living facilities in residential areas. But any residents hoping for a wide-ranging growth-management proposal to be presented this fall will likely be disappointed.

Special Town Meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 23.

Planners this October will not likely seek anything as drastic as a restriction on the number of houses that can be built in a year, such as was proposed last spring, according to Stephen Colyer, planning director. What they might do is seek approval of voters for a study to consider the long-range impact of that or other such proposals.

"A good analysis of the facts we already have could provide the answers and recommendations we need to develop the right kind of growth plan for Andover. We certainly don't want to rush headlong into the enactment of regulations that might do more harm than good," Mr. Colyer said in a memo to the board.

If such a study is approved this fall, staff might then have a report ready for Annual Town Meeting in the spring, and may even have some sort of proposal at that time.

As for this fall, planners are discussing three articles that would propose zoning changes that would add to the control planners have over what will be built.

The proposals would:

- Require 100 percent of a building lot to be uplands. The current bylaw requires only 90 percent, with up to 10 percent wetlands;
- Increase required building setbacks from 15 feet to 25 or 30 feet, to target the larger homes that are being built on small lots;
- Change lot and slope requirements in an effort to retain more natural topography.

All of these proposals are very preliminary, Mr. Colyer cautioned.

The Planning Board also discussed the zoning amendment proposal related to assisted living facilities. The discussion focused on the requirement for affordable units in any assisted living developments, and what the town can do as an incentive for developers to include or increase the number of affordable units available.

Selectmen reschedule meeting

By Don Staruk

The Andover Board of Selectmen postponed a scheduled Monday night meeting this week to last night, Wednesday, because public notice of the Monday night meeting was not posted as required.

The meeting took place after the Townsmen went to press.

Firefighter appointed, two promoted

Among the items on the agenda for last night's selectmen meeting was the appointment of one new firefighter and the promotion of two others.

Scott G. Weightman, 26, of Fosters Pond Road and a graduate of Andover High School, was to be appointed as a firefighter.

Firefighter Robert A. Stabile was to be promoted to lieutenant, and Lt. Richard J. Hartman was to be appointed deputy chief.

The changes follow the retirement earlier this summer of Chief Harold Hayes, and the subsequent promotion of Deputy Chief Harold Wright to chief.

We Will Make The Difference!

State Primary scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 17

The Massachusetts State Primary will be held Tuesday, Sept. 17, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Precincts 1, 3 and 8 will vote at the Senior Citizen Center on Whittier Court. Precincts 2, 4, 5, 6 and 7 will vote at the new gym complex at Andover High School on Shawsheen Road.

The last day to register to vote or change party affiliation for the primary was Wednesday, Aug. 28.

Three primary elections will be held Sept. 17: Democratic Party, Republican Party and Libertarian Party. The elected offices on the primary ballots are: U.S. Senator, Congressman; 5th District, Councillor; 5th District, Senator in General Court; Second Essex and Middlesex, Representative in the General Court; 17 Essex/Precincts 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, Representative in General Court; 18 Middlesex/Precinct 5 only, Essex County Register of Probate, Essex County Treasurer and Essex County Commissioner.

By state law, each voter enrolled in a party will be required to vote in that party primary the day of the election. Unenrolled voters may choose a party at the primary election. Under new state law, when unenrolled voters vote in a state primary, they will no longer be automatically enrolled in that party. This means that unenrolled voters will not have to fill out a party change card to remain unenrolled. The only exception to this rule will be at the March Presidential Primary Election every fourth year.

The last day to file an absentee ballot application with the clerk's office, if you will be out of town during the day of the election, is Monday, Sept. 16, at noon.

The town clerk's office strongly recommends non-registered voters register at this time in anticipation of the primary in September, the Special Town Meeting in October and the Presidential election in November.

Mail-in-registration forms are available in all towns in Massachusetts and the Registry of Motor Vehicles. You may also register in any town clerk's office in Massachusetts.

AVIS wardens and trustees party

By Marta Hornidge

Twenty-five wardens and eight trustees enjoyed the nearly annual get-together of the AVIS organization held at Jim and Peggy Kecks' home on Aug. 13.

Due to the threat of rain, the party developed into an indoor-outdoor event. Tarps strategically placed made outdoor drinks and hors d'oeuvres possible before further threat of showers drove the group indoors for the cookout meal.

David Dargie, land management chairman, introduced the new wardens and thanked all the 42 hard-working caretakers of various AVIS reservations for their diligent attention to the properties. He presented walking sticks to each warden, an appropriate gift.

The walking sticks, made by Bill Dunklee of Lowell, were carved from branches found on the ground on AVIS reservations. They are of various lengths and designs. Some show AVIS initials, some give the name of the wood and some reveal which reservation the wood came from.

Al Koch, AVIS trustee, showed the newly designed AVIS cap, which each warden will receive at the 350th parade Sunday, Sept. 15, when wardens and trustees walk in the 9:30 event. Plans are for the AVIS contingent to walk dressed in AVIS green T-shirts or sweat shirt and new caps. Mr. Koch also will have appropriate property signs for each warden.

Mr. Dargie invited each warden to speak about his/her property. Some difficulties with motorized vehicles, trail bikes and erosion along the Merrimack River were addressed.

The AVIS organization is grateful to the wardens who keep trails clear and safe for walkers. They are the heart of AVIS.

What does this mean for you? It means you can now get more than Medicare – including full hospitalization coverage, additional prevention and wellness benefits and more – and still keep your own doctor. As a Fallon Senior Plan member, you can take advantage of all this, and actually save money in the process.

Fallon Senior Plan has been keeping people healthy for more than 15 years – longer than any other Medicare HMO in Massachusetts. And now we're bringing that same level of commitment here to Lawrence and Methuen. If you'd like to know more, give us a call. We'd be happy to set up an appointment with a Fallon Senior Plan Representative.

Join us for a free lunch at Bishop's Restaurant in Lawrence at 12 noon on August 14, August 21 or September 4.

New hardware store opens in North Andover

A new hardware store has opened in North Andover. Aubuchon Hardware has opened at 579 Chickering Road, across from Haffner's gas station. The store will hold a grand opening Thursday, Sept. 5, at 10 a.m.

Founded in 1908 by William E.

Aubuchon Sr., there are now 142 Aubuchon Hardware stores spanning neighborhoods in New England and New York. Company officials say the chain is still growing. Still, they say, it remains a family business, with 22 family members currently employed in various positions.

The store carries everything from paint and wallpaper to hand tools and power tools, plumbing and electrical supplies, housewares and seasonal items.

The store also stocks fishing and sporting goods and a full line of professional painters' products. Also for sale are lawn mowers, garden tractors, snowblowers, sump pumps, chain saws, lawn-care products, Christmas decorations, pool supplies, wood stoves, phones and flower and vegetable plants - "something for everyone," according to the managers.

COLLEGE BOUND AND CAVITY-PRONE?
As young adults leave for college, their parents ask them not to forget to call home and to come visit once in a while. The same requests could be made by their dentists - call to schedule appointments and visit regularly for exams. All too often, young adults leave concerns about their oral health behind when they leave for college. Gone are the presumably healthy meals prepared by mom, along with scheduled visits to the dentist that parents usually set up for their children. Of course, young adults do not have to leave their good oral habits at home. All it takes is a bit of foresight to schedule dental appointments so that they coincide with visits home during vacations and holidays. If leaving home entails taking responsibility for one's own life, ensuring the health of one's own teeth is part of that responsibility. Unlike college students, teeth never come back once they are gone.

It's one of life's simple truths - no one gets more than one set of permanent teeth. Teeth are meant to last a lifetime, but you have to work at it - you have to want to keep them badly enough to do what needs to be done. And if that means brushing, flossing, and regular professional visits, then we hope you'll call for an appointment. Dental care for the entire family is available at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93. PH: 475-2431. Office hours are Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, & by appointment.

P.S. Upon entering adulthood, there should be as much concern for the health of the gums as there has been for the health of the teeth.

FINANCIAL

THE BENEFICIARY OF YOUR IRA
In most cases, people designate their spouses to be beneficiaries of their Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs). Any spouse who is age 59 1/2 (the minimum age at which money may be withdrawn from an IRA without incurring a penalty) and wants to use the money can remain as a beneficiary and leave the account under the name of the deceased. The 10% penalty that applies to money taken out of an IRA before age 59 1/2 does not apply to beneficiaries. The spouse can either ask the IRA custodian to pay the money out as a lifetime annuity or the money can be taken out over the 5 years following the IRA owner's death. The other option calls for the spouse to convert the IRA to his or her own name. In that case, all IRA rules apply. The spouse/beneficiary can change the way that the money is invested, add money, and name a new beneficiary, but cannot withdraw money until age 59 1/2 without paying a 10% penalty. For thorough counseling on the use of IRAs in the situation that pertains to you, please call us right away. We'll be glad to be of help, with no obligations on your part. Please call today - for many people, their IRA will be a very important part of their retirement plans.

At BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES, 10 Essex Street, Andover, we work with a very wide array of financial services, including investment services, pension and retirement planning services, life insurance and estate planning services, group benefits (for businesses of all sizes), and fee-based financial planning services. We are caring professionals, trained to coordinate parts of an overall financial plan into a cohesive whole. Let us help you secure your future. If you would like to discuss your financial concerns with a trained professional, please call us today at 475-9212 for a free initial consultation. Or call our Boston office, 100 N. Washington Street, at (617) 523-4500.

HINT: It is recommended that IRA beneficiaries who plan to use the money for retirement or who want to pass it on to their heirs claim the IRA as their own.

Melvina, who has two young children, has always had her eye on a nursing career. "I'm a certified home health aide and I've taken college courses before," she says, "but I was just one of the crowd." At NECC, Melvena has found all the support she wants, her courses are going well, and the mountains between her and an RN degree are moving. "I'm finally home!"

Edgewood Move-ins Scheduled for Spring 1997

NORTH ANDOVER— The shape of things to come gets clearer with each passing week at Edgewood, the new retirement community now under construction in North Andover. "We're excited because Edgewood isn't just an idea on paper anymore," says Kathy Hamel, Sales Manager. "And as the community takes shape, people have shown an increased interest in our plans and when Edgewood will be completed."

Refer to the box below for an update on construction activity.

to choose from a number of decorating options that will make their apartment home suit their own personal taste," says Hamel. Residents have the option to choose from a list of available colors for floor coverings, countertops and appliances.

Conservation Land. Even more exciting than construction activity and designing interiors is the spectacular protected conservation land that adjoins the Edgewood site. Edgewood is located on 62 wooded acres along the banks of Lake Cochichewick.

and bridle paths curving gently through the hills and trees.

Stability. Edgewood offers residents a wonderful lifestyle that is also a good value. With entrance fees starting at $152,600, Edgewood compares very favorably with other communities in the area. This is also the only community in the area to be developed and managed by Life Care Services Corporation (LCS), the industry leader. LCS has more than 30 years of experience in over 70 retirement communities nationwide. And as an added measure of stability, Edgewood's Board of Trustees is made up of local medical professionals, business people and clergy.

Act Now. With move-ins scheduled for Spring 1997, the selection of floor plans and views is becoming limited. Hamel suggests interested persons act quickly to reserve the location they prefer. "I also think it's important to point out that Edgewood requires residents to be capable of independent living at the time of application for residency," Hamel explains. "So by reserving their home now, they are assured medical acceptance when they're ready to move in."

Site Plan. For a free copy of the Edgewood site plan pamphlet, or to arrange a personal no-obligation tour of a model apartment home, call Kathy Hamel during business hours at (508) 689-0202.

Edgewood Construction Progress Update

- Foundation work is complete on three residential buildings — a fourth is nearly complete.
- Framing of interior and exterior walls of the Health Center is finished.
- Commons area interior and exterior walls are completed.
- One residential building frame is complete and the roof is in place.
- A second residential building is framed up to the second floor.

Interior Finishes. With opening day less than a year away, Edgewood's move-in coordinator has been working with residents to help them complete their color and interior finish selections. "This is an ideal time for our residents to choose the colors they want us to use in their apartment," says Hamel. "One of the benefits residents have while Edgewood is still under construction, is the opportunity

In planning the community, special care has been taken to preserve as much of the natural splendor of the site as possible. While there will be beautiful landscaping to enjoy at Edgewood, a large part of the site will remain untouched, so that residents can enjoy the pleasures of comfortable country living. There are hiking trails through the woods, a walkway to the lake's edge, a gazebo overlooking the water

*Consider
These Thoughts*

by Garry A. Burke

THE LOSS OF A FRIEND

According to a recent study, older women who experience the loss of a friend often go on to develop a deeper appreciation of life as a result. To help them cope with their grief, these women are likely to make new friends or form closer bonds to the friends they already have. These women, who ranged in age from 67 to 92, had lost one or more of their three closest friends in the five years preceding the study. Their advice for contemporaries who face the same type of losses was to look for ways to remember the relationship, with a focus on the positive aspects. Beyond that, the women stressed the importance of making a new close friend, either by virtue of selection from existing friends and acquaintances or by seeking an entirely new person.

Behavioral scientists who study grief are finding many different kinds of feelings and many different intensities in bereavement. The age of the person who dies makes a big difference as does the kind of relationship you had with the deceased. If someone close to you has died, don't be afraid to ask friends and family for support. If you need to participate in the planning of funeral services, contact BURKE FUNERAL HOME, at 475-5200. Located at 390 North Main Street, we are happy to design funeral services that meet your religious or personal preferences.

QUOTE: "They seem to take the sun out of the world that take friendship out of life."

Pomps Pond's last days

Photos by Lisa Adelsberger

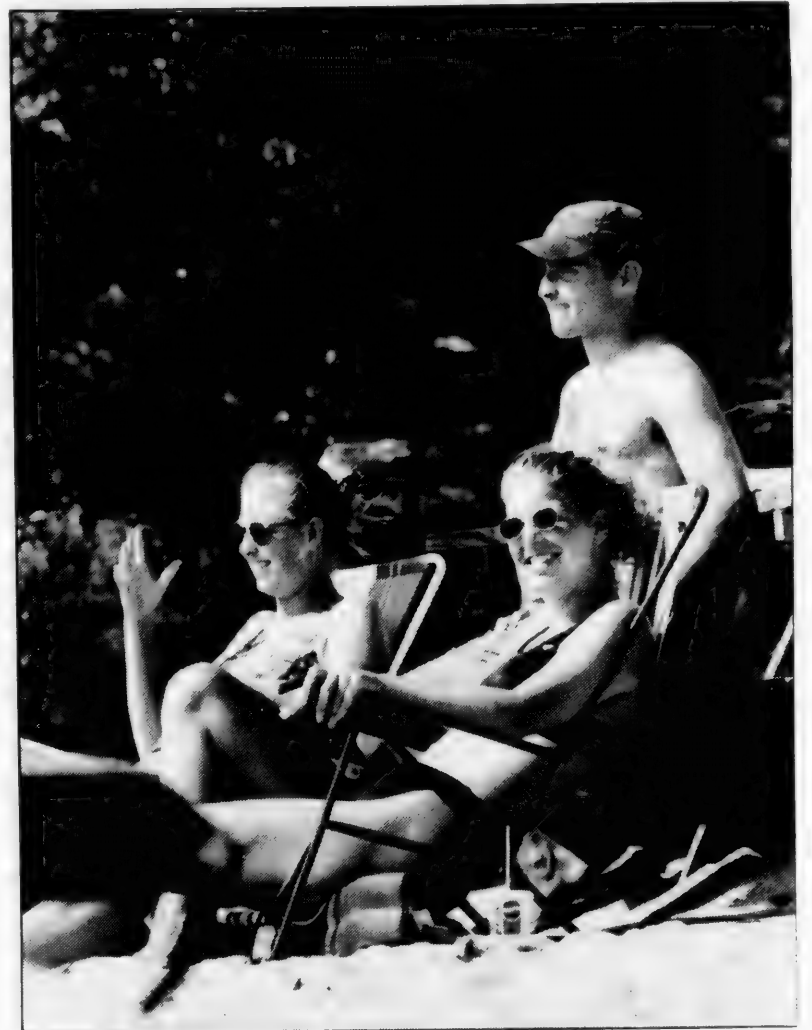

Michael Olivieri teaches his twin sons, Marcus and Michael, 5 years old, how to dive and swim at Pomps Pond. The boys took swimming lessons at the pond this summer. Pomps Pond closes for the season this Saturday, Aug. 31.

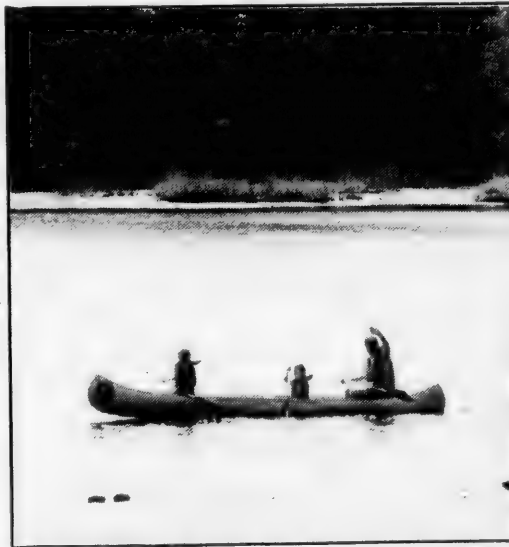

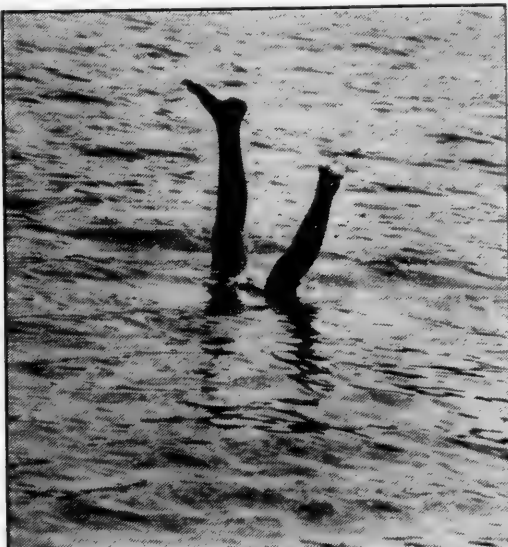

Wendal Albert Goodrich, 9, and a resident of Arizona, has been visiting Andover for the past two months.

Ah, summer... Amanda Schaaake, from left, Katie Lamanna and Brendan Sullivan enjoy the sun at the pond. Amanda will be a senior at Hartwick College in Oneonta, N.Y., and has worked at Pomps Pond four years. Katie, a graduate of Regis College in Weston, has worked there two summers. Brendan, a senior this year at Andover High School, has worked four years at the pond.

Kidder employees last month removed from in and around the three buildings the decades of junk collected by the Krinskys.

Michael Konjoian, whose family owns Konjoian's Greenhouses on Chandler Road, was one of the first to arrive for the razing Tuesday. He and his wife, Patty, freelance as videographers and Michael was at Andover's famous junkyard Tuesday, having been hired by someone out of California. He said he had no idea who he was shooting for, but people at the site guess it must be Tonight Show host Jay Leno, a native of Andover.

Marshall Darling of Pasho Street happened to be on his morning walk, which took him past Park Street. Mr. Darling, who used to be in real estate, said years ago he sat down with Mo Krinsky, "the way any good realtor does," to discern the future of the junkyard. According to Mr. Darling, Mr. Krinsky said his father tied up the property so that the younger Mr. Krinsky couldn't sell it during his lifetime.

(Pamela S. Schwartz, Mo Krinsky's attorney and now executrix of the estate, said recently that rumor is only partially true. There was a trust protecting the property from sale for 10 years after the death of Mo Krinsky's father, Hyman, in 1973. But after 1983, the property was free and clear for Mr. Krinsky to do with as he saw fit, and he just chose not to sell it.)

Robert Ruel of 109 Main St., who grew up in Andover and attended Pynchard High School, said he'd heard that same news that Mr. Darling told.

"I used to help (Mr. Krinsky) in here," said Mr. Ruel, who has been a cook at Phillips Academy since 1955.

Mr. Ruel's relatives, Pat Juliano and her family, live in the yellow house on Whittier Street where Morris Krinsky lived. Ms. Juliano took care of Mr. Krinsky for the last seven years of his life, and Tuesday she drove past the site while the backhoe was taking huge bites out of the rotting buildings.

"Stop by for a while," Mr. Ruel shouted to Ms. Juliano.

But she said she had to be on her way.

Across the street in Park Street Village, Bob Finlayson of Abbot Street stood watching the razing. Mr. Finlayson owns Park Street Village. Asked what the removal of the junkyard will do to property values downtown, Mr. Finlayson said, "It all depends on who buys it." He said that setback requirements and parking regulations "make it difficult to use the property to its maximum potential."

Ken Barnhill of 28 Wolcott Ave. came to the razing fully equipped. He was wearing a hard hat. Asked if he had prior knowledge of the razing date, Mr. Barnhill said, "I've been expecting it to come down for 10 days."

"Morris was an old friend of mine," said Mr. Barnhill, who is on the board of the Friends of Memorial Hall Library, and who is in charge of the

All sorts of items, including a tea ball, parts of a coffee pot, nails and other hardware and various wheels, were strewn about in the dirt in front of the demolition site.

Friends' Sunday concerts at the library. "Morris and I are both barber-shop singers. Several years ago he gave me all his music."

Mr. Barnhill said Tuesday's razing was "the end of an era. We all have mixed feelings about it."

Tuesday morning on his way to work. He said the neighbors of the now-former junkyard are wondering if someone will erect some sort of barrier around the site "for the sake of the neighbors."

Selectman Larry Larsen dropped by with a cup of coffee to watch the passing of an era. Betsey Cullen, who works at Phillips Academy, dropped by on her morning walk.

What's next?

Ms. Schwartz, the executrix of the Krinsky estate, is soliciting closed bids for sale of the Krinsky properties, which include the junkyard lot and the two-family house at 33 Florence St. They can be purchased either separately or together, but while the house is zoned residential, the junkyard lot is in the Central Business District commercial zone.

The town has expressed interest in purchasing the property, for use as a parking lot or a number of other possible uses.

Ms. Schwartz said this week that the sale will not necessarily go to the highest bidder, but she will take into consideration the wishes of those named in Mr. Krinsky's will as beneficiaries of his estate.

Ms. Schwartz said she already has had 25 requests for bid packages, and she will be placing ads in the newspapers soliciting bids. She has set an Oct. 9 deadline for submission of bids, but said she is under no obligation to award a bid if no suitable offers are received.

The two-family house sits on roughly 5,000 square feet at the corner of Florence and Park streets. The house and lot are currently assessed at a total of $145,900 by the Andover assessor's office.

The junkyard property, now that the three buildings have been demolished, is an 11,000 square-foot vacant lot. The lot and buildings were assessed at $174,700 and $26,000 respectively. Now that the buildings are gone, the assessment for the lot would be the total assessment, according to Bill Krajieski, town assessor.

But Mr. Krajieski said the assessment doesn't really represent the value of the lot in light of the fact that it is the last developable lot in the CBD.

He compared it to the sale last May of the old bowling alley property at 32 Park St. That 26,931-square-foot lot was assessed at $299,500, but sold for $320,000.

Mr. Krajieski said the Krinsky junkyard lot will likely sell for $200,000 to Spectators Ted Peters and Barbara Weeks talk about the demolition. Mr. Peters lives here in the summer and in Ft. Meyers, Fla., the rest of the year. Ms. Weeks used to know Mo Krinsky when she was a young girl. "I danced with him on a few occasions," she said. "This is Andover's history right here... and should be the site of Andover's (new) senior center." Mr. Peters agreed with her.

A small group of spectators witnessed the demolition of Krinsky's junkyard on Park Street Tuesday morning. Ted Peters, left, said, "I knew who he was but we weren't friends," referring to the late Mo Krinsky. Mel Clevesy said, "I knew him only to say hello, but he was quite a character, for Andover."

The buildings on the junkyard property were in rough shape.

$250,000, if no problems with hazardous waste are found during an environmental review.

"If the lot tests clean or with very little problems, the bidding should be very substantial," Mr. Krajieski said.

Traffic in front of Phillips

Ask anyone from Andover about the traffic in front of Phillips Academy, on Main Street, and you'll get an opinion.

The academy is working on cutting four lanes on Main Street down to two. Over the years there have been several pedestrian-car accidents in front of PA. Cars speed up in front of the school because the four lanes drop down to two right after the academy property.

In addition, no one seems clear on pedestrian rules on that stretch of the road. So some drivers stop when a student crosses the street in a designated pedestrian crossing. But while one driver stops, another may not, and that has been the cause of several accidents.

Academy officials have said it would not be safe to build an underground tunnel for pedestrians crossing Main Street. And for some reason, a pedestrian bridge over Route 28 doesn't work either. Some people say students wouldn't use such a bridge.

So the academy has come up with the idea of cutting the four lanes down to two. In a letter on the next page in today's newspaper, Applecrest Road resident Donald E. Johnson brings up some significant problems with limiting traffic lanes anywhere in Andover, a town whose population is growing, and that includes the number of cars.

So we urge residents to attend the Monday, Sept. 9, selectmen's meeting (7:30 p.m.) to voice an opinion about the traffic situation in front of Phillips Academy. It's an important issue, one that affects all of us.

And he was this big... Wendal Albert Goodrich, 9 years old, and Kevin Goodrich, 11, from Arizona, have been visiting Andover for the past two months, spending a lot of time at Poms Pond. Last Sunday they found a snapping turtle and they're showing the creature's size.

Ah, the simple life rules ... sometimes

By Perry Colmore

Right now my husband and I have one car, three very small bedrooms and two bicycles.

We're on vacation for two weeks. And even though this is a pricey place, life is simple and we're getting a taste of what it would be like to live in a simpler way.

Take our closet, for example. In the master bedroom of our rented beach house is one small closet, which my husband and I share. That's no problem. I have taken up more space than he, but not that much. He has one sport coat, a couple of pair of trousers and a couple of shirts. I have a dress, two pair of linen slacks, a skirt and a blouse or two.

We even share the one bureau in the room. He has the top two drawers because he's taller. I took the bottom two for a couple of T-shirts, socks, a tennis dress (I haven't worn it) and my underwear.

The kitchen is the same way: simple but ample. We did bring our blender and have used it once to make gazpacho soup. We have his favorite coffee mug with us because he left Andover with it full of coffee. There is one mug in the house that I like and that's what I use each morning. We talked about bringing our favorite paring knives, but we resisted.

We are without a phone answering machine, we are sharing our laptop computer (we're not paring down completely, please) and I brought my favorite baby bed pillow.

Of course we brought five or six books each, and have bought as many since we've been here.

But that's it, that's all we've needed. Living simply is wonderful. It's refreshing and soul nourishing. When I look into the refrigerator I can see everything there is: mayonnaise, mustard, coffee beans, sliced bread from the Black Dog Bakery, a bunch of grapes, a head of lettuce, a red onion, a bottle of cranberry juice, a quart of 1 percent milk, some I Can't Believe It Isn't Butter (I can), half a yellow pepper, a few bottles of beer and seltzer.

I brought some staples, which I didn't want to buy on the island: olive oil, tamari, balsamic vinegar, Saltless Mexican Seasoning and Spike, which is a salt-free all natural seasoning, according to its label. So we can make salad. We buy fish at the store or even at the dock and grill it outdoors and that's it.

I've seen a portable telephone or two but only downtown in this little island resort and those were being used by someone who's suffering from anxiety brought on by being in unfamiliar territory. They're having an Out of Office experience.

Getting back to basics is appealing. Maybe it's an excuse not to think one has to dress or cook fancy, to use the very basics. My green linen shirt goes fine with my tan linen slacks as well as over my bathing suit as well as with my shorts. I can wear my dress with or without a blouse under it, so that's two outfits right there.

We met a man today who has figured the way to make simple work. He's lived on this island for a while now. Called Travis Tuck, he makes special-ordered sculptures, mostly weather vanes. Some of his customers are Stephen Spielberg, the Clintons, Carly Simon, the city of Hamburg, Germany, Bloomingdale's 59th Street location in New York City, Beverly Sills, James Taylor and a few towns, which have ordered reproductions of aging weather vanes from the old town hall or the oldest church. Now what's so simple about that, you ask. Well, I agree, his life doesn't appear that simple, but it really is. He and his wife leave the

Traffic in front of Phillips Academy

Editor, Townsmen:

Perhaps people don't understand what will happen if the plan to reduce traffic to single lanes in the "corridor" portion of Route 28 (Main Street) in front of Phillips Academy is implemented.

Right after construction is completed, traffic will move more slowly through the corridor and there will be short delays. Within a few years after construction, the corridor will not be able to carry the rush hour flow and there will be long delays. Traffic will attempt to find other routes, some down side roads not designed to handle heavy traffic. These side roads, largely in residential areas, will become more dangerous and difficult to get through.

These predictions are not speculations, but are based on tables given in the report by Vanasse & Associates Inc., the transportation engineers and planners who are engaged on the project. The projections based on tables in the report show that saturation of traffic in the corridor, i.e., traffic volume equals capacity, as early as the year 2000, just three years after completion of the project.

A major factor in this problem is the unique nature of the road system. The stretch of Route 28 in front of Phillips Academy forms a corridor between road systems with higher traffic capacities. On the north side it carries traffic flow from three roads: School Street, Main Street and Bartlet Street. On the south side it carries traffic flow from Salem Street, Hidden Road and Route 28, which has a higher capacity due to its higher speed limit.

The "corridor" in front of the academy has to carry the traffic load from these feeder roads and therefore has the potential to form a natural bottleneck to the traffic. The current four-lane road, which is about to be reduced, alleviates some of the bottleneck effect.

In these times of ever increasing traffic flows due to increased town population and a general upsurge in business activity, I have a problem with the idea of reducing the capacity of any major road such as Route 28. If this project goes forward, the new century will be one of traffic jams and disgruntled drivers. Certainly there must be a better way to deal with the pedestrian safety problems at Phillips without causing such an enormous disruption to the town traffic flow.

Unless concerned citizens voice their objections at the upcoming selectmen's meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 9, the corridor project will not be changed. I strongly urge the people of Andover to make use of this opportunity.

Donald E. Johnson, PE
4 Applecrest Road

Some suggestions for all of us

Editor, Townsmen:

We wish to publicly thank Officer Cronin, safety officer of the Andover Police Department, for the quick and efficient help he gave us in acquiring traffic signs on Stinson Road. This is a well-traveled, small, curvy road that school children and neighbors walk. Many people driving to work and their children to Bancroft School speed and make it uncomfortable for walkers or joggers to enjoy the road.

We do hope the selectmen now approve a stop sign at Stinson and Holt roads and the drivers slow down so we can all be safe.

We would also like to ask the public officials to ask for help from taxpayers and neighbors for the traffic problems at Elm Square and Phillips Academy. Hold meetings where the public is allowed to participate and save us all some time and money and eliminate the need for studies.

Also, we would like to ask the selectmen, Planning Board, etc. to post the specific agendas of their meetings and when the public is allowed time to speak, in public places and newspapers. We all don't have cable TV.

Also the Townsmen could publish the results of these meetings weekly. Maybe more of your papers would sell.

Two of many founders of ABC

Editor, Townsmen:

Thank you very much for your recent article and photos about Andover Committee for A Better Chance. The photographs showed many ABC volunteers helping to paint and fix up the ABC house at 134 Main St. Among the photos was one of my wife and me and the caption said that we were the founders of this organization. That is not correct as we were two of many founders.

Actually, the idea was promoted by a men's group at West Parish Church called the Fisherman. Two of them, Bob Klie and Norman Viehmann, contacted most of the churches in early 1967 and they presented the idea to a group of us at the library and we all agreed to proceed. Town Meeting approved the idea of our students going to Andover High School and our first students arrived that fall. It is hard to believe that next year will be the 30th anniversary of this fine program and that so far exactly 100 of our students have graduated and gone on to some of America's finest colleges.

Until you see those who don't have it...

Editor, Townsmen:

I have been reflecting a lot this summer on the trip I made in June with my church youth group at St. Robert's to help the poverse communities... a mission. Most of what you will be reading is what I have seen, experienced, and learned, but all is true. You really don't know what you have until you see others who don't have it. It really makes me somewhat angry now when I see people in Andover complaining about how there is nothing to do... well, we have everything. You may disagree but after I've seen what I've seen down in West Virginia it's the truth. You may not know this but West Virginia is the most poverse area in the United States...the United States? Yeah, a-l-l of it. When I think of what I've seen, it sometimes brings tears to my eyes... I remember the morning in which I came back, I was reading something I wrote down there to my parents and I had to stop because the emotions were too hard on me. But I guess I'll just start and tell you about my mission and maybe it could become your mission.

There is a lot of hurting people down in West Virginia and most of them are children that don't even know they're hurt. Many of them can sense that they're in a bad situation but a lot just don't even think about it. You see, when you're brought up in poverty...all your dreams are basically gone...there are no dreams. That's one of the major problems with children who live in West Virginia, they're born into poverty...many of these children have no way out, they either have a father who's a drunk, sipping bottles of vodka each day or they're with a single mother on welfare. When I was in W.Va. there was this couple who both had dropped out of high school, one was a junior, the other a senior, both were planning on getting married...both had low wage jobs, one at a Dairy Queen, the other at a McDonald's...great start don't you think...that's the problem, there's absolutely nothing there for anyone.

Yeah, sure, people have houses down there but that's it...they don't own the land which is underneath...they live in fear of what the corporations will do next, will they need my plot of land? You just can't go anywhere there...you may not think the raising of minimum wage is a big deal, but it is...these people get practically nothing...they are the third-world state in the U.S. They can't fight the corporations because they'll just threaten to move elsewhere and that's all they have for jobs really...it's a sad place and it needs a lot of help.

There is absolutely nothing to do here and I blame that partially on the fact the government just doesn't care enough. I mean this town doesn't even have a local paper never mind the fact they have to go 34 miles just to mail something or even pick up mail, there is no delivery, the only way these kids could get to college is on a scholarship and you know how a rarity that can be. It's a sad world we live in...a hurting world...and instead of being selfish and wanting more and more, shouldn't we try to improve society overall. I think that would be the greatest gift we could give to the human race. Here is poem I wrote in West Virginia.

Dream

What Dream

I don't have one unless this is it; And there's nothin else
Surrounded by dreamless people looking for others seeking out the hope for a better place maybe beauty - happiness - blessed moon filled with light to shine upon the dark and lonely path in which I walk. Sweet days come and go but never stay...I saw a dream once and then again but it was a dream for a dream and that's been there all along...And it's never leavin.

island two or three times a year, he says. The people who live on the island, about 15,000 during the winter, are friendly and socialize during the winter. During the summer, they are too busy to do more than wave hello in passing on the main street. In his shop there is a sign about a house for rent come September. That is his house, he explains, which he and his wife designed and had built. During the summer it makes sense financially for them to rent out their house in weekly increments. They then rent a less expensive house for the summer and they make $10,000 or $12,000 out of the deal. When all the tourists have gone home, their life settles down and they have a calmer, slower life.

We wandered into his shop because his dog was lying outside, tethered by a chain, but she looked invitingly friendly and we petted her so he was pleased and said hello.

So repeat after me: I can live without my fax machine, without 40 pair of shoes (for a while anyway). I won't miss my portable phone, I don't need a VCR (we do have a television on island), one closet is enough, the dishes don't have to be fancy and I'm happy as long as I have my coffee grinder, which, by the way, we brought from home.

Ah, the simple life. It's not so simple to get this simple.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

IF IT'S PROOF YOU WANT...

Over the past 20 years, the chiropractic community has provided substantial research results to prove the effectiveness of its practice. Whereas there was only a single retrospective trial on manipulation in the medical literature in 1975, there are currently 54 published prospective trials on manipulation, many of which are random, controlled trials. The studies evaluate manipulation according to a broad variety of outcome criteria, including range of motion, cost-effectiveness, lost work time, patient satisfaction, and pain relief. Chiropractic has gone further than most other treatment methods in the time and research that it has dedicated toward satisfying all these requirements. For those who wish to review the evidence, there are more than 30 trials that suggest that manipulation is particularly effective for treating acute and sub-acute back pain.

If you're suffering from back pain, isn't it time you see your chiropractor? At DeLORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, we're currently accepting new patients. Call us at 475-5042 and let us help you with safe, effective, and gentle chiropractic care. We are seriously concerned with the education of our patients about health and the body's natural state. Your body will give you a lot of good years if you take care of it. Our office is located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. Manipulation has consistently outperformed the other medical therapies used to treat back pain with which it has been compared.

Build your business career by degrees.

We offer women and men accelerated business degree programs that can have a real impact on their careers. We offer classes at seven regional sites, including our newest in Andover.

- Our undergraduate program—Emmanuel College Advancement Program (ECAP)—leads to a B.S. in Business Administration.
- Our graduate program leads to an M.S. in Management, preparing you for general management and leadership in building successful organizations.

You can complete your degree in as little as half the time of traditional programs. And you only have to attend class one night a week. You may also be eligible for credit for work and life experience.

The programs apply theory to real-world issues. Our top-notch faculty will even work with you in the classroom on the business issues you face back in the office.

Classes for both programs begin several times a year and are taught at our Andover, Boston, Framingham, Leominster, Quincy and Woburn locations. ECAP is also taught at our Medford site. So you can attend class close to home or work.

This flexibility and our seven convenient locations let you balance a quality education with other aspects of your life.

Two local women on Merrimack rosters

Andover has two athletes listed among those on the varsity rosters of fall sports teams at Merrimack College.

Sue Cookson, a former All-Scholastic soccer player at Andover High and a two-time Eagle Tribune Player-of-the-Year, is a freshman fullback on the Merrimack women's soccer team which will try to duplicate or better last year's outstanding 16-6 overall record and 7-1 mark in the Northeast-10 Conference.

Lori Nelson is a sophomore forward on the Lady Warriors' field hockey team.

Dick Collins, who spent the last 37 years as head varsity football coach at Andover High, is the offensive coordinator for Merrimack's first varsity football team since 1989.

Merrimack football season opens Sept. 13

Merrimack College Director of Athletics Robert M. DeGregorio Jr. announced the season-opener for the Warriors' first varsity football season will be Friday, Sept. 13, at Andover High School at 7 p.m.

"We look forward to opening our first varsity football season under the lights at Andover High," he said. "Practices began last week and the excitement for football at Merrimack College is growing every day."

Mr. DeGregorio also announced that the Saturday, Oct. 5, Homecoming Game against Curry College will be played at 1 p.m. at Warrior field on the Merrimack campus.

The Warriors will play a nine-game schedule as an independent Division II team during the 1996 season. Next season Merrimack will play as a member of the Eastern Football Conference.

Lightning is brilliant in two state tournaments

The Merrimack Valley Lightning 14-U girls softball team recently competed in the five-day national F.A.S.T. pitch tournament in Vernon, Conn. The team is comprised of 12 girls from the Merrimack Valley, including four from Andover: Jen Anzaldi, Abby Dennehy, Lisa Tisbert, and Taylor Traub.

The Lightning placed third in the nationals, playing teams from the Northeast. Anzaldi played third base and had five extra base hits including one triple and four doubles. Dennehy played right field with stellar defense and had a game-winning hit. Tisbert played centerfield and batted .400 for the tournament as well as playing excellent defense. Traub played second base and had an on-base percentage of .500 with five stolen bases.

The Lightning played 55 games this year, compiling a 41-14-0 record.

Lightning wins Greenfield Tournament championship

Four Andover girls helped lead the Merrimack Valley Lightning to victory in the Greenfield 14-U Tournament last weekend. The team of All-Star players from throughout the Merrimack Valley won five of six games against teams from Taunton, Saugus, Fitchburg, Plainville and Greenfield.

After losing their first game against Saugus 4-2, they defeated Plainville 17-5 in a game stopped by the mercy rule. Jenn Anzaldi had two RBIs, two runs scored and one stolen base. Abby Dennehy contributed a timely double and scored two runs. Lisa Tisbert and Taylor Traub each scored two runs and had a stolen base.

Game three had the Lightning playing the Taunton Bandits, a perennial powerhouse. Lightning took the lead in the first inning when Lisa Tisbert knocked in their first run. The team broke the game open in the fourth inning when Taylor Traub drove in the second run with a base hit and scored moments later on a triple to deep left field by Lisa Tisbert. Jenn Anzaldi scored the fifth run in the 5-3 victory when, after singling and stealing second and third, she scored on a wild pitch. Jenn and Taylor also played stellar defense at third and second, respectively, handling numerous hard grounders, bunts and line drives flawlessly.

Game four was against Western champs Greenfield. Taylor Traub led the way in this 6-1 victory with two hits. Abby Dennehy scored the game-winning run when, after walking and stealing second, she scored on a base hit. Lisa Tisbert and Taylor Traub both made excellent defensive plays with Lisa running deep to right center to catch a potentially game-tying hit.

In game five, the Lightning beat Fitchburg 7-2. Taylor had three hits and scored one run while Lisa contributed one hit and again played stellar defense in center field.

The championship game pitted the Lightning against the Saugus Alleycats, the Greater Boston League champs. The game was scoreless after one inning. Jenn Anzaldi led off the second inning with a deep drive up the gap in left center for a double and scored what was eventually the game-winning run on a base hit two batters later. Taylor Traub scored in the fourth when, after singling, she stole second but was left stranded. Abby Dennehy scored the final run in the 4-0 victory by singling, stealing second and scoring on a base hit in the sixth. Abby made a great catch in right to end the first inning, while Jenn at third, Taylor at second and Lisa in center made exceptional plays in the field.

It's Andover versus Andover

DCS to hold auditions for Confetti Kids theater group

The Department of Community Services will hold auditions for Confetti Kids Friday, Sept. 6, at 3:30 p.m. in the West Elementary School auditorium on Beacon Street. Membership is for children in the Merrimack Valley in grades 3 through 9.

Children must be accompanied by an adult and should be prepared to perform a simple monologue such as a nursery rhyme, child's poem or dramatic interpretation. They will be asked to sing one verse of "America" (My Country 'tis of Thee). Participants will be chosen for poise, dramatic ability and voice quality.

Confetti Kids will meet Thursdays from 3:15 to 4:30 p.m. in West Elementary School's music room. Theatrical skills will be developed with skits, pantomimes and improvisational exercises in class. The group also develops a musical repertoire and occasionally performs for community events. There is a tuition fee and a costume fee. For more information, contact the DCS, Josie Walker or Maureen Brennan.

Our Early Investor Account is something you and your kids will both jump at.

This special, interest bearing savings account can be opened with only $10. And every time the account reaches $500, that money is automatically rolled into a higher interest Early Investor CD. While the funds in the CD earn higher interest, kids can continue to build their statement savings.

Our Early Investor Account is convenient, fun and a great way to teach kids how to save. A concept they should be able to grasp.

For information, call 1-800-2CALL-AB.

 Andover Bank

Andover Bank: Andover • Lawrence • Methuen • North Andover • Tewksbury Member FDIC/DIF
Andover Bank NH: Salem, New Hampshire Member FDIC

$10 balance in savings required to earn interest. Automatic transfer from Early Investor Savings to Early Investor Certificate of Deposit will be made on the first business day of the month into a one-year fixed-rate CD.

Science skills aid workers

More than 600 different jobs need people trained in basic chemistry

There could be good news for a change about employment in this country.

People from defense-related industries who lose their jobs due to military downsizing are not likely to swell the unemployment lines for long if they have a science background, experts say. Most science professionals will probably find new jobs within a year.

Researchers at the American Chemical Society say chemists and chemical engineers are particularly rehirable because a basic chemistry background prepares people to do more than 600 different jobs. They can work in areas of food, nutrition, technology, health, environment, and crime-solving, just to name a few.

"We are trying to get this message out to women and minorities — two groups who are underrepresented in the science workplace," says Dr. Helen M. Free, president of the Society, whose 145,000 members make it the largest scientific society in the world.

"Somewhere early in their education — usually around the third or fourth grade — girls turn off to science, and so do most Afro-American and Hispanic students. Yet science could be an 'economic lifeline' for women and minorities, who tend to suffer most when jobs are scarce."

Dr. Free wants young people to realize "how much fun it is to be a scientist. You get your hands dirty, you play with things, you change them, you discover things for yourself, and you may discover, or even create, something no one has ever seen before."

To help young people appreciate the importance and the fun of science, the Society targets to them a wealth of career and educational materials that begin at the kindergarten level. It also sponsors special workshops for girls and a summer program that enables economically disadvantaged high-school students to experience the science workplace.

Teachers, scientists and others can get free information about these and other programs. Write to Public Outreach Office, Rm 711, American Chemical Society, 1155 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Pay attention to children's hearing cues, actress urges

Robin Wright, co-star of the popular movie "Forrest Gump," is featured in a new public service campaign for print and television, urging parents to be aware of possible hearing problems in their children.

The actress makes this recommendation in "A Guide to Your Child's Hearing," published by the Better Hearing Institute.

Speaking as a mother concerned about better hearing for children, Wright urges parents to watch and listen for tell-tale signs of hearing loss. She says the booklet will help them to better understand common ear problems and available hearing help for children.

Early detection

Patrick Brookhouser, M.D., president of the American Auditory Society, agrees. "Early detection of a child's hearing loss is vital, as so much of a child's speech and language development depends on hearing," he says. AAS is an organization of interdisciplinary hearing health professionals that co-sponsored the hearing guide's promotion.

Noticing vital cues

"The cues I get as an actress are important," says Wright. "As a mother, the cues my children give me are even more vital. For example, does your baby respond to your voice? Does your child complain of ear-aches? Does your child have difficulty speaking well? Not reacting to such cues early enough could leave your child with permanent hearing loss."

"Remember, a child is never too young for a hearing evaluation ... and never too young for hearing help," Wright says.

"A Guide to Your Child's Hearing" is co-authored by Charles W. Gross, M.D., professor of both pediatrics and otolaryngology at the University of Virginia, and by Judith Gravel, Ph.D., director of audiology and associate professor of otolaryngology for the Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

Back to school food

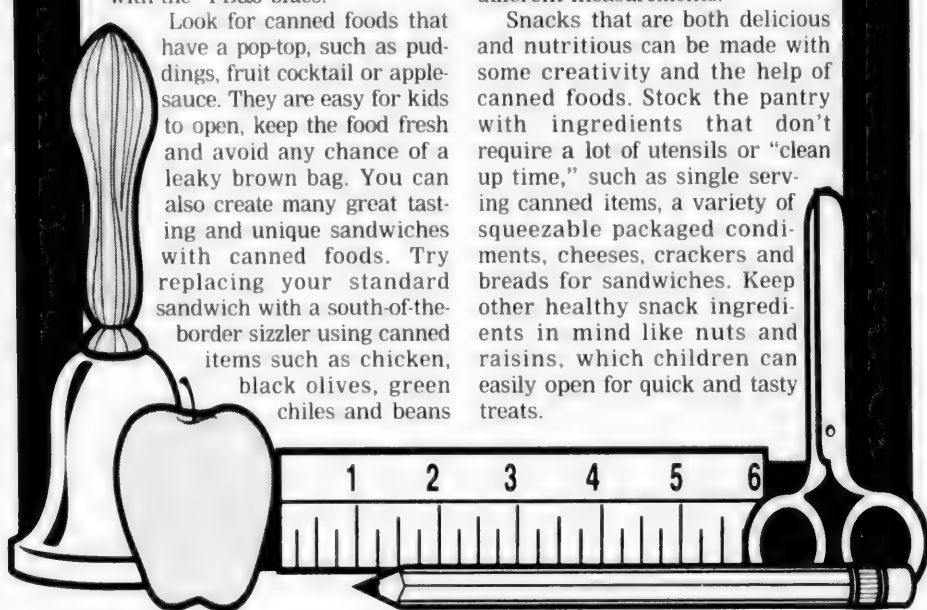

The last night of summer vacation has always been difficult for parents and kids alike — waking up earlier, organizing carpools, penciling in the calendar with school events, and once again, coming up with ways to pack healthy but quick-to-fix lunches the kids will eat. This year, instead of hearing the youngsters say, "Mom, not peanut butter and jelly, again!" surprise them with fun sack lunch meals using canned foods. Canned foods are easy to fix, as nutritious as fresh and frozen foods and will help you receive cheers from kids with the "PB&J blues."

Look for canned foods that have a pop-top, such as puddings, fruit cocktail or applesauce. They are easy for kids to open, keep the food fresh and avoid any chance of a leaky brown bag. You can also create many great tasting and unique sandwiches with canned foods. Try replacing your standard sandwich with a south-of-the-border sizzler using canned items such as chicken, black olives, green chiles and beans or combine canned white turkey with a splash of cranberry relish on a kaiser roll to create an early Thanksgiving club.

One way to make sure kids like what they eat is to let them help you make their own sandwiches or snacks. Although you may not have the time to pack the lunches together, after-school snacks are always high in demand. Preparing snacks or meals can help kids learn responsibility and independence, while building important skills such as reading, following directions and learning how to use different measurements.

Snacks that are both delicious and nutritious can be made with some creativity and the help of canned foods. Stock the pantry with ingredients that don't require a lot of utensils or "clean up time," such as single serving canned items, a variety of squeezable packaged condiments, cheeses, crackers and breads for sandwiches. Keep other healthy snack ingredients in mind like nuts and raisins, which children can easily open for quick and tasty treats.

Shopping rules for back to school items

The rule for school shopping is comfort.

Comfort means buying clothes you can feel comfortable in and buying them at prices you can feel comfortable with.

Whether parents are selecting a child's back-to-school wardrobe or a young adult (junior) is venturing out with summer earnings, the main objective is the same — fashionable, quality merchandise at a smart price.

Here are some tips on how to find it:

- Shoppers looking for great buys might want to consider shopping at off-price stores.

"Off-price retailers, can save shoppers up to 60 percent on top designer and brand name merchandise, when compared to department and specialty store prices," says Laura Cervone, T.J. Maxx spokesperson.

- Start early.

Smart shoppers start stowing away items for fall during warm weather.

- Make a list.

With a list prepared and a goal in mind, shopping for back-to-school merchandise will be less stressful and shopping smart won't tug on your purse strings.

Getting children ready for school

Preparing pre-schoolers and school aged children for school can mean many responsibilities for parents — from registering to buying clothes and supplies. Back to school time is also an opportunity to check a child's growth, health and safety through some important steps that parents should consider.

These ideas can help make school time both more rewarding and safer for children:

- In addition to making sure your child is immunized against childhood diseases, also make sure your child is growing normally. Children, on average, grow ten inches in their first year, and two to two and a half inches each year through age ten. Growth outside this range may be a normal variation, but it might also indicate a growth disorder.

- Make sure your child has nutritious meals at school just as you provide at home. Poor nutrition can also affect a child's growth in both height and weight.

- Children feel safest in familiar surroundings. You and your child should visit school together. While there, make sure that bathrooms, playground areas, gyms, blackboards and desks are all easily accessible to your child.

- Try to meet your child's school friends. Children learn many things from playmates. Invite them to your home to observe their play habits and interactions.

- Encourage your child to participate in sports and other extracurricular activities, and provide encouragement. Suggest that your child try many different activities to help identify those that will provide the greatest satisfaction.

The Human Growth Foundation helps individuals with growth-related disorders, their families, and health care professionals through education, research, and advocacy. If you think your child might have a growth disorder, see your doctor.

Winning the Mt. Washington Hillclimb takes guts, reflexes, instincts and, most importantly, quattro.

We won. Again. Five times now the checkered flag's waved for an Audi in the Hillclimb. A high-speed race up dizzying slopes, through 100 hairpin turns with no guardrails. Just a dare? Not for quattro.® An inspired all-wheel drive system that transfers power from the wheels that slip, to those that grip. One that you can use to rocket from 0 to 6000 feet. Or to get to work on time safely in a January blizzard. Test drive an Audi A4 quattro at Park Audi today. A truly upscale car. Get ready for the ride of your life.™
